

A course where you can explore the charms of Akasaka, interwoven with the traditional and the contemporary

A city providing a new sensibility

It is a center for spreading the beautiful values of Japan. It consists of luxurious shops, restaurants, offices, hotels, houses and museums.

203-3475-3100

Hinokicho Park

A relaxing park next to Tokyo Midtown

A Daimyo Yashiki (former residence of a feudal lord) overlooking the streets of Edo. Even now after becoming a park, it flourishes with colours and the beauty of Japan as ever.

2303-5413-7015

Ewc him &wc

A shrine with over 1,000 years of history

The current shrine was established by the eighth Shogun of the Edo Bakufu, Yoshimune Tokugawa, and is a designated cultural property of Tokyo. It was also the site of the Asano Tosa Mamoru residence during the Genroku era. During the Akasakahikawa Festival, held in autumn, traditional festival floats reminiscent of the lively culture of the Edo period parade the area, making for a spectacular sight.

Akasaka Sacas

Focused around Akasaka Biz Tower, Akasaka Sacas includes TV station (TBS Broadcast Center), theaters, shops, restaurants and apartment towers. This massive entertainment complex offers events, plays, music, dining and more.

New culture in the heart of Akasaka

Roppongi Sta. Exit 8 [Direct connection to Tokyo Midtown]

about 70m & about 2 minutes

about 220m & about 4 minutes

about 330m & about 5 minutes 🛂 Akasaka Hikawa-jinja Shrine

about 760m & about 13 minutes

about 1160m & about 19 minutes

about 1020m & about 17 minutes

about 450m & about 8 minutes

sidewalks in the shopping district.

You will pass through some roads that go up and down. When you pass the State

Guest House, Akasaka Palace uphill road, it's recommended to be accompanied by a helper

Tokyo Midtown

Hinokicho Park

Akasaka Sacas

🛂 Toyokawa Inari Betsuin

Goal JR Yotsuya Sta. Yotsuva Exit

Toyokawa Inari Betsuin

A Toyokawa Inari Buddhist temple

This temple is an offshoot of Toyokawa Inari Myogon-ji Temple, located in Toyokawa City (Aichi Prefecture). It came into being when a statue of Dakini-Shinten was enshrined at the residence of Edo-period magistrate, Tadazuke Ooka. Nestled amid trees, the grounds feature many shrines.

2303-3408-3414 46:00-20:00

State Guest House, Akasaka Palace

An elegant national treasure

A national guest house that has welcomed kings, presidents, prime ministers and other guests of state from around the world. Built in 1909 as the only Japanese palace built in the Western Neo-Baroque style, this building has been designated as a national treasure. Beginning in 2016, the palace was opened year-round to the general public, excluding periods when doing so would interfere with official functions.

2303-5728-7788 (Telephone Service) ●10:00-17:00 (last entry ends at 16:00 for main building, 16:30 for gardens) *For details, see the State Guest House, Akasaka Palace website.

