Let's Play at Nursery Schools!

Let's Play at Nursery Schools events are held by public nursery schools and licensed children's gardens in order to support local families with children. They are held for children who have not yet entered nursery schools or licensed children's gardens and their parents/guardians. For about one hour in the morning, participants can play together with nursery school teachers and nursery school children, and try out nursery school lunches. Parents can also receive information and individual counseling on childcare from nursery school staff. Some nursery schools even open their playgrounds to the general public. Please contact each nursery school or licensed children's garden directly for applications and inquiries.

Children's Halls

Kids-to-Teens Halls
The Children and Senior Citizens Plaza

Children's Halls, Kids-to-Teens Halls, and the Children and Senior Citizens Plaza have playrooms, meeting rooms, reading rooms, crafts rooms, and rooftop areas where infants and their parents/guardians, as well as elementary, junior high, and high school students can enjoy unstructured play.

They also have balls for play, pools (only in summer), ride-on cars, wooden blocks, kitchen and food toys, picture books, and more for infants. Some parents/guardians bring lunches with them when they bring their infants to these facilities. Make sure to follow the rules, and have fun.

There are four Children's Halls, six Kids-to-Teens Halls, and one Children and Senior Citizens Plaza in the City, and each of them hosts various events for infants and their parents/guardians.

Contact your local Children's Hall, Kids-to-Teens Hall, and/or the Children and Senior Citizens Plaza if you want to make friends or you want to exchange information about childcare.

☉ Children's Play Groups

Children's Halls, Kids-to-Teens Halls, and the Children and Senior Citizens Plaza all hold events where parents/guardians with infants can get together and enjoy some playtime. About once or twice a week, for about an hour in the morning, they offer fun activities, including parent-child exercises, picture-drawing, paper picture story plays, and seasonal events. Infants as young as 0 years old can participate, with some facilities carefully dividing infants up into groups based on age. All of the facilities require registration. Some of them, however, do not have a maximum capacity or a registration deadline. Contact the relevant Children's Hall, Kids-to-Teens Hall, and/or the Children and Senior Citizens Plaza for details, including registration deadlines.

Shiba no Ie

🏠 3-26-8 Shiba ☎ 3453-0474

Shiba no Ie, which is run jointly by Keio University and the Shiba Regional City Office, is a project that aims to bring back some of the warmth and connection between people that existed in the Showa Era (mid 1920s - late 1980s), including neighborhood watches and everyday small talk amongst neighbors.

It exists as a social space for anybody in the region, from babies to senior citizens, to just stop by. Drink tea, eat lunch together, play with toys, enjoy handicrafts, chit chat, read books, play games, do work, and more. Shiba no Ie is a relaxed space to meet and interact with people.

Check the monthly calendar on the official website for information on events, etc. You are free to visit whenever you wish, whether you live, work, or study in the City.

Days: Tues - Sat

Hours: 11:00 AM - 4:00 PM

※Dates/hours are subject to change. See the official website for the latest information.

COCO - Takanawa Hotto Hitoiki Child-Rearing Support Program

📍 Health and Welfare Subsection, Residents Support Section, Takanawa Regional City Office 📞 5421-7085

The Takanawa Hotto Hitoiki Child-Rearing Support Program hosts child-rearing counseling services, lectures, social events, etc., for infants and parents/guardians residing in the Takanawa area. The program was updated in 2021.

📍 Why is the program nicknamed COCO?

"CO is a prefix meaning "with," or "together." The nickname COCO came about as a way of expressing the program's aim of supporting childcare by connecting children ("kodomo," or in this case ""codomo""") with other children, as well as connecting parent/guardians with each other.

See the Minato City official website for details."

Shibaura Konan District Childcare Relief Project

📍 Health and Welfare Subsection, Residents Support Section, Shibaura-konan Regional City Office 📞 6400-0022

Project teams that include public health nurses, midwives, registered dietitians, and clinical psychologists provide individual consultations for any concerns related to childcare, conduct infant physical assessments, and provide consultations for expectant mothers in Residents' Collaboration Spaces, etc. in the Shibaura Konan District. This is a relaxed space where you can get advice about childcare and make friends. See the Minato City official website or the Childcare Relief Project leaflet for information on the dates/times and locations of the events.

Eligibility: Infants who reside in the Shibaura Konan District and their parents/guardians, as well as expectant mothers

Tanpopo Club

Community Welfare Support Subsection, Health and Welfare Section ☎ 3578-2381

Tanpopo Club, a childcare support program run by the Council for Welfare Workers and Welfare Workers for Children, is a program where infants aged 0-4 years old and their parents/guardians can play freely together and make friends.

The program places particular emphasis on helping parents/guardians exchange information about childcare and make friends with each other.

Feel free to talk to the welfare workers/welfare workers for children about any concerns you have regarding childcare.

Welfare workers and welfare workers for children are required to maintain confidentiality. They will also introduce you to relevant institutions if necessary.

Minato City Libraries

Library Subsection, Library and Cultural Assets Section ☎ 6435-3011

Throughout the year, public libraries in Minato City hold children's events such as picture book story time (Ohanashi Club), children's movie events, and arts and crafts. Please feel free to participate!

Since Minato City has a large number of foreign residents, we also have a wide selection of foreign-language picture books and foreign-language libraries for children. Also, the branch of the Takanawa Library has a library especially for elementary and junior high school students. This library mainly features books for children and young adults.

All libraries are within walking distance of subway and railway stations, so be sure to come visit with your child.

Library cards can be made by anyone, even babies. Why don't you take time to enjoy reading and talking with your children?

Minato City Local History Museum

Local History Museum ☎ 6450-2107

The Local History Museum displays exhibits that introduce the history and culture of the City. Visitors can actually touch the earthenware and folk handcrafts as well as view real materials such as Ukiyoe at the communication room that can be accessed for free. There are also exhibits that use imaging devices such as touch panels. The museum also hosts classes for children, including parent-child study sessions and summer break study sessions.

Visit the Minato City Local History Museum website for details.

Information on Art Museums and Cultural Museums

Minato Local History Museum ☎ 6450-2107

What is the Minato City Museum Network?

Minato City implements projects for the effective utilization of cultural assets, with the aim of invigorating cultural and artistic activities. One such project is the mutual cooperation of art museums, cultural museums, and other facilities located in our City. This makes it possible to hold events and transmit information through cooperation with the City.

Let Your Child Play Outside for the First Time at Asobi-no-Kichi!

Let Your Child Play to Their Heart's Content at Playpark!

 Community Development Subsection, Community Development Section, Regional City Office (see back cover)

Asobi-no-Kichi

A playground where pre-elementary school children (0-5 years old) and their parents/guardians can engage in safe, unstructured play, while interacting with nature.

Play leaders play with children in a way that suits their interests, so you can feel secure about letting your child play outside for the first time.

Playpark

The City hosts Playpark events (adventure playgrounds), in which children play while doing the things they want to do on their own. To encourage children to let loose and play to their heart's content, these events are implemented with as few strict rules as possible, with the motto being take responsibility, and play how you want to play.

Contact us for the dates/times and locations of the events

For inquiries regarding Asobi-no-Kichi and Playpark, please contact the Community Development Subsection, Community Development Section of each Regional City Office.
